The map’s origami paper

✂ Cut out the square along the line. Print at actual size (100 %), on thin paper: it folds better. The printed side will be the outside of the crane (the folding is on page 3).

> Seigaiha means « waves of the blue sea ». These endless waves are a wish: a calm and happy life that goes on.

The map’s origami paper

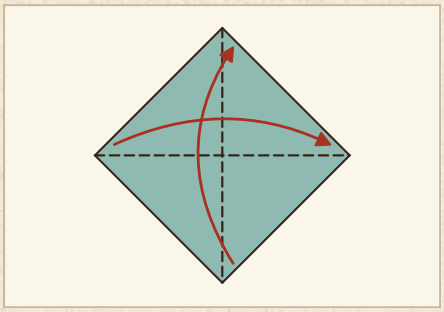

✂ Cut out the square along the line. Print at actual size (100 %), on thin paper: it folds better. The printed side will be the outside of the crane (the folding is on page 3).

Asanoha is the hemp leaf. Hemp grows fast and straight: this pattern was put on babies’ clothes so they would grow up healthy.

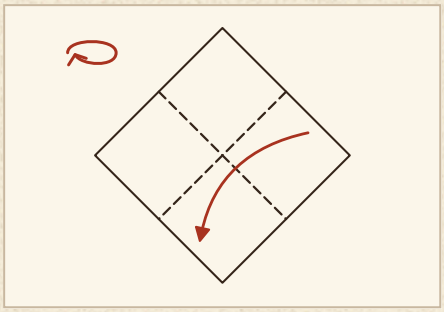

Fold a paper crane (orizuru 折り鶴)

The crane is Japan's most famous fold. In Japan, people fold a thousand cranes (senbazuru) to make a wish. Press each fold well with a fingernail.

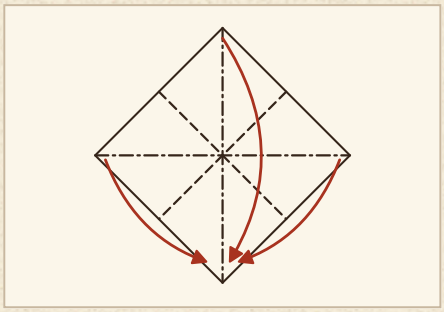

valley fold (towards you) mountain fold (away from you) turn over

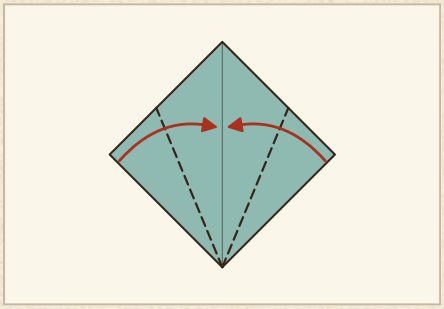

1 Pattern side up. Fold in half into a triangle, then unfold. The same the other way.

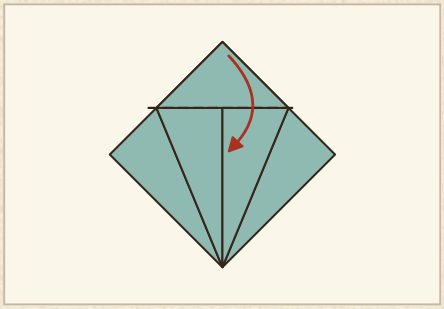

2 Turn over (white side up). Fold in half into a rectangle, then unfold. The same the other way.

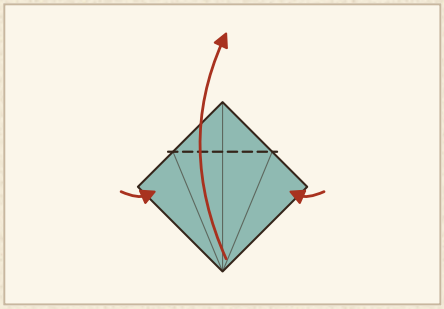

3 Using the creases, bring the top, left and right corners down to the bottom one. Flatten.

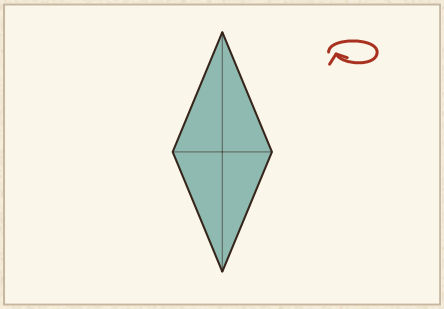

4 A small square, its open points at the bottom. Fold the two top edges to the middle.

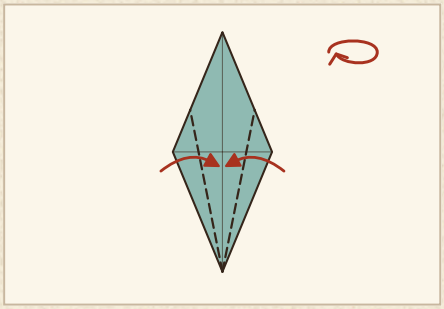

5 Fold the top triangle down over them. Then unfold the folds of steps 4 and 5.

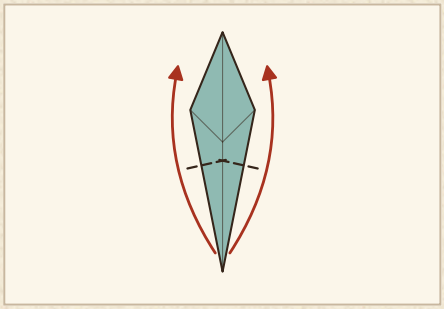

6 Lift the bottom point (one layer only) up along the crease. The sides go to the middle. Flatten.

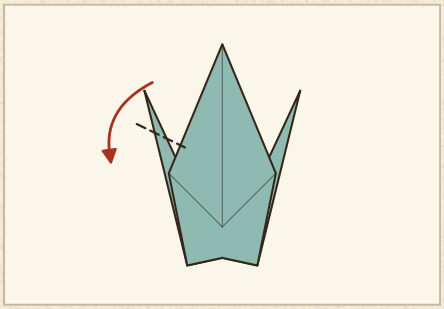

7 Turn over and repeat steps 4 to 6 on the other side: this is the « bird base ».

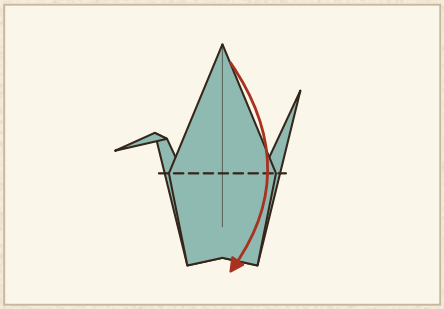

8 Fold the lower edges (top layer) to the middle. Turn over and do it again.

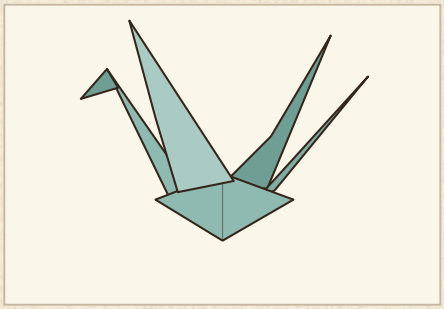

9 Fold each bottom point up, inside, between the two layers: the neck and the tail.

10 Fold the tip of the neck the same way, down: this is the head.

11 Fold both wings down: one in front, one behind.

12 Gently spread the wings to puff up the back. Your crane is ready!